The Return of Huh...?

I've been ruminating on the Haiti situation this past week and have come to some startling conclusions. The One World Order has finally taken the bold step of using its Seismic Weapon and has unleashed its devastating force on Haiti. You say, "This was an earthquake, on a major fault line no less. No one can create an earthquake!" Think about it. The country of Haiti is on an island which is occupied by another nation: The Dominican Republic. Why is the Dominican Republic unaffected? A Level 7 earthquake would shake the whole island, you would think? Also, in the days that followed, there were tsunami warnings placed for all the surrounding areas, which would be a normal occurrence with a water-based earthquake, but no tsunami happened... One wonders if The New World Order experienced an extreme sense of joy at the incredible accuracy of their long untested weapon!

A Seismic Weapon would need to be tested for accuracy. The idea being to use the weapon on a pinpointed spot; so as not to wreak too much havoc in the surrounding areas. That could affect the bottom line. But why test it on Haiti? It's one of the poorest, most desperate countries in the Western Hemisphere. In the days that immediately followed the disaster death tolls were posted which included a curious selection of casualties. Police from many countries, including Brazil, China and Germany were on the list. It was also noted, casualties of employees of several World Banks. Why would anyone outside the immediate vicinity have an interest in Haiti? So much of an interest, they have sizable police forces located on the island?

President Obama has pledged $100,000,000 to aid Haiti in its time of need, but we already gift Haiti with $100,000,000 in aid every year and we're going to borrow this sum from China and pay them back.(?) And what is the U.S.'s interest in Haiti that we would be sending so much money to anyway? Why is there so much global interest, apart from the disaster, in Haiti? An impoverished backwater nation?

The Christians have weighed in on this as well. Pat Robertson wasted no time intimating on the 700 Club that he had good knowledge that the slaves in Haiti had made a pact with the Devil, in order to overthrow their white Christian masters, and that Satan, in all his prudence, decided to collect his toll on the slaves' ancestors, along with any unsuspecting bystanders who happened to be in Haiti at the time, a few hundred years later. But what's Satan's stake in this? Does he hold stock in the businesses that exist in the impoverished nation of Haiti?

And Neoreligionists: the Environmentalists, have made a statement, too. Using the venerated Danny Glover, actor of such popular movies as Lethal Weapon and Lethal Weapon IV as their mouthpiece, they stated the disaster in Haiti was retribution for the less than taxing results of the Climate Conference in Oslo, held only months before. This perplexes me. I would think the Environmentalists would be part of the Plan all along. But what does Environmental Issues have to do with Haiti, a poor, impoverished nation?

And finally, what gain does The New World Order have in pitting the Christians against the Environmentalists? Each, in their own way, contributes to the cause. Relief efforts have been organized with the Christians firmly in front of the propaganda as to, "Who's contributing the most."

Who is contributing the most?
